The Alma Mater

In the heart of dear old Emory
Where the sun doth shine,
That is where our hearts are turning ‘Round old Emory’s shrine.

We will ever sing thy praises,
Sons and daughters true.
Hail we now our Alma Mater,
Hail the Gold and Blue!

Tho’ the years around us gather,
Crowned with love and cheer,
Still the memory of Old Emory
Grows to us more dear.

We will ever sing thy praises,
Sons and daughters true.
Hail we now our Alma Mater,
Hail the Gold and Blue!

Presentation of the Marion Luther Brittain Service Awards

The Marion Luther Brittain Service Award is presented each year to two graduating students (one undergraduate and one graduate) from any academic division of the university who are considered to have performed the most “significant, meritorious, and devoted service to Emory University.” Considered the highest honor presented to a student by Emory University, the Brittain Award recognizes two students whose contributions to Emory are outstanding. The award is made under provisions of a gift by the late M. L. Brittain, former president of the Georgia Institute of Technology and alumni of Emory.

Stephanie Zhang 22C
Undergraduate Recipient

From her earliest days at Emory, Stephanie Zhang leaned in time and again to build a more inclusive community for students of color. By never hesitating to question the world around her, Zhang has created deeper belonging for Asian American students on campus and broader understanding of their needs and concerns.

Zhang brought her experience as a youth fellow and organizer with Asian Americans Advancing Justice, a national civil rights organization, to unite students around issues impacting the Asian Pacific Islander Desi American (APIDA) community at Emory. Zhang served as co-president of Emory’s Asian Pacific Islander Desi American Advocates (APIDAA) group. Under her leadership, the organization courageously hosted intragroup conversations around anti-Blackness in the Asian community and events exploring tensions between Asian American students and international Asian students.

Recognizing that APIDA students needed a space of respite, dedicated resources, and staff to support their unique needs, Zhang built a coalition to align the larger conversation about how Emory serves APIDA students. Her efforts resulted in the creation of the university’s first Asian Student Center, which opened in fall 2021, and the first staff position for APIDA initiatives in the Office for Racial and Cultural Engagement. Today, the Asian Student Center is a staple in the Asian community, and APIDAA has created a chapter on the Oxford campus.

After participating in the Office for Racial and Cultural Engagement’s peer-mentoring program, which helps acclimate first-year students academically and socially, Zhang gave back as a peer mentor, developing meaningful relationships with two first-year students.

As a student programming assistant at the Center for Women at Emory, Zhang helped organize and facilitate Girl Con, an annual event that brings fifty girls from a local middle school for girls’ empowerment workshops. She led the attendees through art projects, exchanged TikTok dances with them, and co-created and co-presented a workshop that covered strategies they can use to advocate for themselves and build impactful coalitions.

Zhang participated in the search for the assistant director of Latinx initiatives, served on diversity committees across the university, and was selected to represent the Cox Hall student ambassadors at the identity spaces unveiling.

She was a finalist for the Dean’s Achievement Scholarship, has written articles on APIDA students in higher education, and served as a Humanity in Action fellow, working with the Asian American Advocacy Fund to develop new political engagement initiatives for high school students. Committed to eradicating voter suppression, Zhang registered voters on campus and in the larger Georgia APIDA community.

Working tirelessly to make Emory the kind of institution she wanted to see, Zhang was named a Newman Civic Fellow, an honor extended to community-minded students who are changemakers and public problem solvers on their campuses.

My Nguyen 22MPH
Graduate Recipient

Humble, thoughtful, generous, and curious. In My Nguyen, these are just some of the qualities that have made for unparalleled personal growth and lasting contributions to the community. In addition to stellar academic achievement, Nguyen is a dedicated leader, tirelessly championing social justice and equity.

A student in the Department of Behavioral, Social, and Health Education Sciences at Rollins School of Public Health, Nguyen was a research assistant with the department’s Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (EDI) Working Group. She led analysis of the department’s 2021 EDI Climate Survey, and with a team of peers conducted an assessment of mental health among students. As a result, faculty were reminded to continue providing mental health check-ins in class, and trainings were offered for faculty, staff, and students regarding critical conversations and microaggressions.

At the school level, Rollins initiated programming to increase communications about mental health services.

Nguyen’s thesis examines experiences of COVID–19–related discrimination and mental health among Vietnamese in the United States. She was invited to present her findings to an unprecedented variety of professional organizations, including the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association and is preparing a manuscript to publish her thesis results.

As a teaching assistant, Nguyen was involved in courses focused on promoting equity in public health.

The co-president of Students for Social Justice, Nguyen never failed to demonstrate big-picture thinking and empathy. When students returned to campus once the pandemic eased, they trusted Nguyen with their personal and professional concerns, recognizing her unique qualifications to link them to critical resources. In addition, in association with the Office of Racial and Cultural Engagement, she developed and coordinated programming centered on the mental health and well-being of Asian American students.

Working with the Office of Undergraduate Education and Residence Life, Nguyen provided academic advising support and developed programming for undergraduates.

Having worked in an Asian American identity space as an undergraduate, Nguyen assisted the Office of Belonging and Community Justice to help undergraduates think about the community they would like to build through these spaces.

A program evaluation intern for the Refugee Family Assistance Program, Nguyen developed culturally appropriate protocols to conduct qualitative data collection in order to assess training needs among case workers and community navigators.

Presentation of the Exemplary Teacher of the Year Award

Chosen by the university president from nominations by the deans on behalf of the United Methodist Church Board of Higher Education and Ministry.

Jennifer R. Ayres
Associate Professor of Religious Education
Candler School of Theology
Director, Doctor of Ministry Program

Known as a creative, accomplished, and empathetic teacher, Jennifer Ayres joined the faculty of Candler School of Theology in 2011. In 2018, she became director of the Doctor of Ministry program and has guided the “Slow Seminary” initiative started in that same year to help midcareer faculty build community and productively balance their teaching and scholarship.

In her classes, she exposes students to a deliberately broad series of voices while helping them use their own diverse backgrounds to strenthen their contributions as leaders and educators. A believer in shared pedagogy, Ayres structures her classes so that students learn not just from her but also from one another. An adroit convener of difficult conversations, Ayres has succeeded even in the virtual space. Students extol her accessibility and individualized feedback, and because of her gifts as a teacher, she is often called to host pedagogy workshops for faculty and graduate students.

Another key role has been her leadership in the redesign of the Candler curriculum, which entails rethinking the school’s educational strategies in light of its mission and with an eye toward changes in graduate theological education. Since 2018, she has served on the advisory board of Emory’s Center for Faculty Development and Excellence. In her research and scholarship, she has been an advocate for inclusive and innovative forms of pedagogy.

Never hesitating to serve the school or university, Ayres in 2020 served as house chaplain for one of Candler’s “formation communities,” established to foster intentional living among students. She currently serves as faculty adviser to Creation Keepers. Ayres recently contributed to two ecological initiatives at Emory: the Food Studies Working Group and the Religion and Ecology Collaborative.

Beyond adding key insights to a variety of search committees, Ayres was elected by her colleagues as an at-large member of the school’s executive committee. She serves, at the dean’s invitation, on the Strategic Planning Committee and has been a valued member of a group of Candler faculty developing an ambitious series of proposals for external funding.

In the words of Dean Jan Love, “It is hard to imagine Candler functioning without Dr. Ayres’s deep engagement and wise counsel.”

Presentation of the Thomas Jefferson Award

Awarded each year to a faculty member or administrative officer for significant service to the university through personal activities, influence, and leadership.

JEFFREY ROSENSWEIG
Associate Professor of Finance
Goizueta Business School
Director, The Robson Program for Business, Public Policy, and Government

Deeply engaged at Emory since his arrival in 1988, Jeffrey Rosensweig has not only brought distinction to Goizueta Business School as a researcher and teacher, he also has contributed across the university—as a senior faculty fellow at the Center for Ethics, which he co-founded and where he served as faculty chair of the Board of Advisors for years. He also has been a member of the Board of Advisors of the Brain Health Center and on faculty in the Master’s in Development Practice program at Laney Graduate School.

In forming deep, personal relationships with Atlanta’s business, political, and community leaders, Rosensweig has benefited Emory by bringing noteworthy speakers to campus and being a trusted mentor to students and alumni. He is the vice president for international relations of the Rotary Club of Atlanta.

An exceptional teacher and mentor, Rosensweig was selected by the Wall Street Journal as one of twelve favorite professors in all executive MBA programs worldwide. In addition, he received the Distinguished Educator Award voted by Emory’s executive MBA students during four consecutive years.

An expert in international business and finance, Rosensweig focuses his research, teaching, and consulting on economic development and business in the global economy. He is the author of numerous papers published in academic journals. His first book, Winning the Global Game: A Strategy for Linking People and Profits, received critical acclaim. His latest book is Age Smart. Often quoted in the national business press—including Forbes, Fortune, and BusinessWeek—he is a frequent commentator for CNN.

Rosensweig had a large role in designing University Courses at Emory. These themed courses form a true “intellectual commons.” The first such course, Methland, featured faculty members and students from across disciplines. More than a decade later, these popular courses continue.

He helped establish the Emory Veterans Association and the Black MBA Association, serving as these organizations’ first and only faculty adviser. He also was instrumental in inaugurating Emory’s annual Veteran’s Day commemoration and is on the Quad every year as emcee, explaining the day’s solemn purpose, calling for the moment of silence, and introducing the speakers.

In January 2000, Rosensweig was elected to the Council on Foreign Relations. His passion is helping others gain economic and educational empowerment. Charitable organizations that he has helped develop include Medical Assistance Program International, CARE, Odyssey, Project Destiny, and economic development groups.

The Emory Williams Awards for Distinguished Teaching

The university’s oldest awards for teaching were established in 1972 by alumni Emory Williams 32C. Awards in the arts and sciences are determined by a committee of Emory College faculty. Emory College gives three of these awards each year, while other schools of the university give one award.

Winship’s first named center for a specific type of cancer. Glenn and the foundation also established the Louisa and Rand Glenn Family Chair in breast cancer research at the center in honor of the Glenns’ daughters, Louisa Glenn D’Antignac and Rand Glenn Hagen.

The foundation’s work, in addition to cancer research, includes civil and human rights, as well as health and wellness. Beyond her work in support of Winship, Glenn is a dedicated community volunteer who has served the Atlanta Botanical Garden and Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta. She is also a supporter of the ARCS Foundation, whose mission is to provide financial awards in science, engineering, and medical research to graduate and undergraduate scholars.

Glenn and her family were inspired to give to Winship by appreciation for the care provided in 2003 to their daughter Louisa.
At that time, the family was gratified to find a center in Atlanta at the leading edge of breast cancer research and treatment. One example is the focus on better understanding triple-negative breast cancer, an aggressive form of the disease that disproportionately affects Black women.

“We have experienced the uncertainty of this disease, and Winship helped our family fight back with excellent care at the forefront of medical advances,” said Glenn.

Recognizing that breast cancer is a life-changing diagnosis, the Glenn Family Breast Center elevates breast cancer care in a variety of ways, including the opportunity to participate in clinical trials and tissue banking, as well as facilitating basic and translational research relevant to the disease. The center’s multidisciplinary team of experts—in medical, surgical, and radiation oncology; plastic surgery; breast imaging; pathology; and genetic counseling—treats thirteen hundred patients annually.

Glenn, a founding member of the Winship Board of Advisors, has helped make Winship a vital hub for innovation and discovery in the institute’s encouraging research efforts against all cancers.

“While our gifts target breast cancer, we hope that others will invest in Winship’s research and exceptional care for all types of cancer so many more families can be helped. Just as we benefited from investments made years before we were touched by this disease, we are confident that this investment will help future patients survive and thrive,” Glenn noted at the time of her family’s gift.

Glenn’s determination in the fight against breast cancer has enabled Winship to be a pacesetter, offering hope to so many Georgians by pushing the boundaries of diagnosis and treatment of a disease that represents about 30 percent of new female cancers each year.

Ms. Glenn will be presented by Vikas P. Sukhatme, dean of the School of Medicine.

SALLY Q. YATES
Seeker after Justice, Distinguished Public Servant, Truth-Teller
Honorary Doctor of Laws

SALLY Q. YATES is former US deputy attorney general and acting attorney general who served the Department of Justice (DoJ) for twenty-seven years and was responsible for more than one hundred thousand employees, including the prosecutorial, litigation, and national security sectors.

As deputy attorney general from 2015 to 2017, Yates focused on corporate fraud, cybercrime, gang violence, civil rights, and financial crime. She led the DoJ’s criminal justice reform efforts and enacted substantial prison reform measures.

Yates drew from inspiring role models growing up. Her paternal grandfather served on the Georgia State Supreme Court, and her paternal grandmother was one of the first women admitted to the Georgia bar in 1934. Yates’s father was a judge on the Georgia Court of Appeals from 1966 to 1984.

Ambivalent about pursuing a law career, Yates changed her mind after college when she worked for a Georgia representative.
“I loved the process of being in the center, where it felt like the important decisions are being made about our country,” she said.

AUTHORIZATION TO CONFER DEGREES

The conferring of degrees is authorized in formal session by the Board of Trustees of Emory University on the recommendation of the president and the faculties. At today’s ceremony, Chair
Robert C. Goddard III symbolically will authorize President Emory’s faculty to confer degrees upon the graduates, including the recipients of honorary degrees.

HONORARY DEGREES

LOUISE R. GLENN
Health Advocate, Community Leader, Generous Philanthropist
Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters

The profound generosity of Louise R. “Lou” Glenn, a founding trustee of the Wilbur and Hilda Glenn Family Foundation and a steadfast supporter of Emory’s Winship Cancer Institute, led to the 2013 establishment of the Glenn Family Breast Center—
She became an accomplished trial lawyer and fellow in the American College of Trial Lawyers. Yates has prosecuted high-profile cases, including a corruption scheme at Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport and bomber Eric Rudolph, whose crimes disrupted the 1996 summer Olympics in Atlanta.

Yates joined the DOJ in 1989. Prior to becoming deputy attorney general, she was the first woman to serve as US attorney for the Northern District of Georgia. During her five-year tenure, Yates oversaw prosecution of all federal crimes and the litigation of civil matters.

A fierce believer in all citizens being treated equally under the law, Yates has said, “Americans must know that we will vigorously pursue criminal activity regardless of whether the crime is committed on a street corner or in a corner office.”

She is a partner in King & Spalding’s Special Matters and Government Investigations practice in addition to speaking frequently on public policy issues. Yates has served as a visiting distinguished lecturer at Georgetown University Law Center, currently co-chairs the Board of Trustees of the Council on Criminal Justice, and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Ethics Research Center.

Ms. Yates will be presented by Mary Anne Bobinski, dean of the School of Law.

Tyler Perry

Storyteller, Entrepreneur, Humanitarian

Honorary Doctor of Letters

Tyler Perry is a world-renowned producer, director, actor, screenwriter, playwright, author, songwriter, and entrepreneur. He is the creative force behind seventeen feature films, twenty stage plays, seven television shows, and several books, among them a New York Times best-seller.

Born and raised in New Orleans, Perry experienced a childhood marked by poverty and abuse. By writing letters to himself as a form of self-care—advice he gleaned from Oprah Winfrey—Perry found the inspiration for his first play, I Know I’ve Been Changed, which debuted in 1992.

At first, establishing a following proved elusive, but six years after Perry staged that first play, it sold out at Atlanta’s Fox Theatre, portending audience allegiance of record-breaking proportions as his career continued. At its heart, Perry’s work is concerned with providing hope, offering humor, and inspiring his fans to, as he recommends, “leave space to dream.”

A prolific artist, Perry wrote thirteen plays during the next thirteen years. His unforgettable character Madea—the God-fearing, gun-toting grandma—had her debut in plays Woman Thou Art Loosed! and I Can Do Bad All by Myself. She made the leap to film in 2005 with Diary of a Mad Black Woman, which rose to number one in the US and was the subject of ten other films.

Perry took television by storm in 2007 with the TBS series House of Payne, the highest-rated first-run syndicated cable show. His follow-up effort, Meet the Browns, met similar success, and his Haves and Have Nots crime drama brought the Oprah Winfrey Network some of its highest ratings during its eight-year run.

As an actor, Perry has taken on roles as diverse as Admiral Barnett in Star Trek (2009), Colin Powell in Vice (2018), and Jack Bremmer in Don’t Look Up (2021).

With a passion for building communities, Perry in 2006 founded Tyler Perry Studios in Atlanta, and in 2015 he expanded operations with the acquisition of Fort McPherson. The studio encompasses more than three hundred acres, is one of the largest production facilities in the country, and has brought more than four hundred jobs to the city.

Perry is known for his wide-ranging philanthropic work. Founded in 2006, the Perry Foundation empowers people who are economically disadvantaged to achieve a better quality of life. Its focus includes health and clean water, education and technology, arts and culture, as well as globally sustainable economic development.

Perry is the recipient of the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award at the 2021 Oscars, the Governor’s Award at the 2020 Emmy Awards, and the People’s Champion of 2020 at the People’s Choice Awards. He made Time magazine’s list of the 100 Most Influential People of 2020.

Mr. Perry will be presented by Michael A. Elliott, dean of Emory College of Arts and Sciences.

The Order of Ammon

The Order of Ammon is a secret society at Emory whose members are chosen due to their merit, character, imagination, and persistent commitment to better Emory and the world at large. The order differentiates itself by striving to create an inclusive community on campus. Ammon does not reveal its six graduating members.

The Dobbs Society

The Dobbs Society recognizes exemplary leaders who leave a profoundly positive impact on the residential community through significant contributions and service to Emory’s residence hall community.

Emory University Commencement 2022 | 55
A Commentary on Commencement

Emory College of Arts and Sciences originated from a concern for higher education in a Christian setting on the part of the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Chartered in 1836 in Oxford, Georgia, the college was named after John Emory (1789–1835), bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1964 the college at Oxford was named Oxford College of Emory University.

Emory College became Emory University by virtue of a charter granted by the Superior Court of DeKalb County on January 25, 1915. Although classes on the Atlanta campus were begun in the schools of law and theology as early as 1916, the college did not move to Atlanta until 1919. The university now includes nine schools, most tracing their origins to years before the chartering of the university itself. These schools are Emory College and Oxford College (1836), the School of Medicine (1854), Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing (1905), Candler School of Theology (1914), the School of Law (1916), Roberto C. Goizueta Business School (1919), the James T. Laney School of Graduate Studies (1919), and Rollins School of Public Health (1990).

The intent of the founders is perpetuated by the university’s vision statement: A destination university internationally recognized as an inquiry-driven, ethically engaged, and diverse community, whose members work collaboratively for positive transformation in the world through courageous leadership in teaching, research, scholarship, health care, and social action.

Emory University Land Acknowledgment

Emory University acknowledges the Muscogee (Creek) people who lived, worked, produced knowledge on, and nurtured the land where Emory’s Oxford and Atlanta campuses are now located. In 1821, fifteen years before Emory’s founding, the Muscogee were forced to relinquish this land. We recognize the sustained oppression, land dispossession, and involuntary removals of the Muscogee and Cherokee peoples from Georgia and the Southeast. Emory seeks to honor the Muscogee Nation and other Indigenous caretakers of this land by humbly seeking knowledge of their histories and committing to respectful stewardship of the land.

A Short History of Commencement at Emory

This is Emory’s 177th commencement. The exercises witnessed today represent an imposition of medieval academic tradition on an institution that had its roots in the nineteenth-century frontier. The first Emory commencement was held in 1840, four years after Emory College had been chartered and two years after the college’s first classes. That first ceremony, however, was without graduating students, as there were no graduates until the following year. Then, as now, sermons and addresses had a central focus in the exercises, though rarely have these addresses been so crucial as in 1849, when all fifteen members of the graduating class were assigned speaking places and spoke for as long as half an hour each.

Early commencement audiences sat for up to four hours in the midsummer heat to listen to the numerous student and faculty orations on such topics as “Our Government Unfavorable to High Attainment in Literature,” “Social Equality,” and “Modern Refinements.” These addresses in the early days were in English, contrary to the practice at many other institutions. As President A. B. Longstreet argued in 1842, speeches in Latin and Greek were “worthy of the name pedantry, and nothing more.” In spite of this advice, several later generations of students instructed their audiences in the ancient tongues.

Academic Dress and Customs

Academic dress goes back to the founding of European universities, which were the products of the intellectual revival of the twelfth century. All medieval students were clerks and consequently wore the dress of clergy. This is the academic costume we wear today, with certain changes introduced in the sixteenth century by Protestant reformers. The oldest articles of academic wear were the robe, over which was worn the habit, usually a kind of tunic with short, wide sleeves. The medieval hood was lined with fur or inexpensive skins and could be gathered around the neck or pulled up on the head as a turban. It is uncertain when different colors became associated with different degrees.

There were four kinds of caps: the round cap, reserved for doctoral dignity; the tena, a round cap with strings tied under the chin, worn by jurists; the square cap; and the Tudor bonnet. At Oxford University in 1565 the square cap became the norm, but the faculties that had become laicized adopted the Tudor bonnet that is still worn by doctoral candidates today. The basic design of all academic costume in the United States was first established in 1895 and was first used at Emory by the Class of 1902. The bachelor’s gown features an embroidered Emory University seal in gold thread and has long, pointed, open sleeves. The master’s gown has longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom with openings about midway for the hands. Beginning in 2014, the bachelor’s and master’s gowns are made of fabric spun from molten plastic pellets from recycled water bottles. An average of twenty-three post-consumer plastic bottles are used to create each gown, furthering Emory’s commitment to sustainability initiatives. The doctor’s gown has full-length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. Tassels for bachelor’s and master’s caps are black; tassels of gold thread may be worn by doctors. Gowns and caps are usually black, although Emory and some other schools have specified that their doctors may wear gowns of distinctive colors. Yale’s deep blue doctoral gown, Harvard’s crimson, Columbia’s dark blue, and Emory’s blue and gold are a few that may be seen in the procession.

The hood varies for the respective degrees, the doctor’s hood being longer and fuller than the master’s. The field of study can be determined from the velvet facing on the hood according to the following color scheme: white, the arts; gold-yellow, science; purple, law; apricot, nursing; green, medicine; teal, physical therapy; scarlet, theology; salmon, public health; drab, business; and dark blue, doctors of philosophy. The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the degree-granting institution. For Emory graduates the lining is blue with a chevron of gold.

The president of Emory University wears a badge of office given to the university in 1965 by the Emory chapter, Gamma of Georgia, of Phi Beta Kappa. Designed by Eric Clements of Birmingham, England, and executed by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths in London, the solid gold badge is an open teardrop enclosing the raised seal of the university and is suspended on a gold chain.

The chief marshal and deputy marshals lead the academic procession. The faculty marshals and the secretary of the university jointly manage the forming of the procession, the seating of commencement participants, and the planning of other aspects of commencement exercises. Marshals are identified by their unique blue tunics, which are sleeveless and lined with gold.

The Quadrangle stage with blue canopy was named the University Marshals’ Stage in honor of the dedication and service provided by Emory’s chief marshals throughout history.
The university mace is carried in the procession by the immediate past president of the Student Government Association. Academically the mace is the symbol of a university as a corporate body of scholars possessing its own jurisdiction and its own legally constituted authority. Traditionally the mace is borne in procession immediately before the chief officer of a university and is placed before them during formal academic ceremonies.

The mace of Emory University, a gift from D.V.S., an Emory College senior honor society, was designed by Eric Clements and executed in silver and gold by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths. In the teardrop at the apex of the mace, against a background of oxidized silver, is a freestanding representation in gold of a human skeleton. This is Dooley, the “spirit” of Emory, who traditionally “rises” once each spring and for a week rules campus. Immediately below the skeleton, in an open teardrop, is a gold sphere divided (by stippling) into eight segments. Topping the sphere is a simple cross, symbolizing the relationship of Emory University to the Methodist church. The seal of the university is sculptured in gold within the circular base.

Before each school in the procession, the school’s student marshal carries its gonfalon, a banner in the color associated with the respective school’s degree: medicine, green; public health, salmon; nursing, apricot; theology, scarlet; law, purple; and business, drab. The gonfalon of the graduate school is gold representing Emory’s gold, and the gonfalons of Emory College and Oxford College represent Emory’s blue.

EMORY ALUMNI LEGACY MEDALLION

Graduating students who have a parent, grandparent, and/or sibling who is also an Emory graduate are wearing specially commissioned medallions hanging from blue and gold ribbons. The medallions are expressions of the university’s gratitude to those families who have chosen to continue the Emory education tradition throughout the generations.

THE COMMENCEMENT SETTING

Spectators on the Quadrangle are seated facing the former Pitts Theology Library, one of the two oldest buildings on the Atlanta campus. Designed by the distinguished Pittsburgh architect Henry Hornbostel (1867–1961), Convocation Hall—as it is now known—was the original theology building in 1916. It was renovated in 1975 by architect Paul Rudolph to house the expanded library collection of Candler School of Theology. Renovated again, the building reopened in 2019 as a community gathering space and to welcome visitors and members of the campus community alike as they meet with the university’s president and other leaders.

Directly behind the spectators are Carlos Hall, the other original campus building, and the expanded Michael C. Candler Museum. Formerly home to the School of Law, Carlos Hall was renovated in 1986 according to a design by Michael Graves to house the museum and the Department of Art History. The museum is named for the philanthropist who donated most of the cost of the facility. It was designed to maintain the classic symmetry and proportion of the surrounding buildings, which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Bowden Hall, east of the museum, was constructed in 1951 in the same style as the original campus buildings. Originally the History Building, it was renamed in 1991 in honor of the late Henry L. Bowden, former chair of the Board of Trustees of Emory University. To the southeast of Bowden Hall is the Center for Library and Information Resources. The center joins the tall, red-tile-crowned Robert W. Woodruff Library and is linked to the Asa Griggs Candler Memorial Library at the east end of the Quadrangle. Candler Library was dedicated in 1926 in honor of the man who donated the land for the campus and who provided the university with strong leadership in its early years.

Next to Convocation Hall is the Loula Walker and Ely Reeves Callaway Sr. Memorial Center. Thanks to a generous gift from alumna Ely R. Callaway Jr. in honor of his parents, this center joins the former Humanities Building with the original Physics Building, which was constructed in 1919.

At the west end of the Quadrangle is the Administration Building (1955), a gift of Charles Howard Candler. Like his father, Asa, Charles chaired the Board of Trustees for many years. Between the Administration Building and the former Pitts Library sits the more modern White Hall, the main classroom building of Emory College. Above the trees on the north side of the Quadrangle are the curved red roof of the William R. Cannon Chapel—designed by Paul Rudolph and dedicated in 1981—and the towers of Emory University Hospital to the east.
