THE ONE HUNDRED SIXTY-THIRD COMMENCEMENT
THE TWELFTH OF MAY
TWO THOUSAND EIGHT

The Alma Mater

IN THE HEART OF DEAR OLD EMORY
WHERE THE SUN DOTH SHINE,
THAT IS WHERE OUR HEARTS ARE TURNING
'ROUND OLD EMORY'S SHRINE.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

THO' THE YEARS AROUND US GATHER,
CROWNED WITH LOVE AND CHEER,
STILL THE MEMORY OF OLD EMORY
GROWS TO US MORE DEAR.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

PRESENTATION OF THE MARION LUTHER BRITTAIN SERVICE AWARD

This award, symbolic of all honors bestowed on students by the University, is an expression of gratitude for service performed without expectation of reward or recognition. The award was established at Emory in 1942 through a bequest from a distinguished Emory alumnus, former President Brittain of the Georgia Institute of Technology.

Zain Ahmed
Emory College
Presented by Senior Vice President for Campus Life
John L. Ford

THE WINNER OF THE 2008 MARION LUTHER BRITTAIN AWARD is Zain Ahmed, a senior in Emory College, who earned a BS in neuroscience and behavioral biology (NBB) and also completed the requirements for a BA in political science and chemistry.

In addition to his scholarly interests and pursuits, Ahmed is a talented leader. He is the founder and editor-in-chief of the Emory Undergraduate Research Journal. He is one of the founders of the umbrella group Emory Science Outreach, a student-run service organization to engage the Emory community in K–12 science education in Atlanta. Ahmed is also the founder of Global Health, Education, and Economic Development (HEED), a nonprofit organization that addresses issues related to health, education, and economic development. HEED's plans are to build and start a maternal health care clinic in Calhuitz, Guatemala.

Ahmed was a 2007 Emory Community Building and Social Change Fellow where he worked with the Whitefoord Community Program (WCP) in Edgewood to conduct a community assessment focusing on the community's perceptions of the WCP, the elementary schools in the community, and the changing needs of the gentrified neighborhood.

Ahmed has served as an Emergency Medical Technician-Intermediate (EMT-I), an Ethics and Servant Leadership Scholar, and a resident adviser, and he volunteered as a premed intern for a four-week clinical internship in pulmonology in Pakistan. Ahmed epitomizes engaged student scholarship at Emory University.

PRESENTATION OF THE UNIVERSITY SCHOLAR/TEACHER AWARD

Chosen by the University president from nominations by the deans on behalf of the United Methodist Church Board of Higher Education and Ministry.

Richard D. Freer
Robert Howell Hall Professor of Law

FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, PROFESSOR RICHARD D. FREER HAS guided Emory law students, inspired colleagues, and engaged law makers with his charismatic teaching, high standards, and extraordinary knowledge of civil procedure. After earning a BA from the University of California, San Diego and a JD from the University of California, Los Angeles, Freer clerked for federal district and appellate judges. He joined the Emory faculty in 1983 after working for three years as an associate with the Los Angeles law firm of Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher.

A nationally recognized scholar on civil procedure, Freer has authored or coauthored eleven books, including a popular casebook on civil procedure and two volumes of Moore's Federal Practice, a multivolume treatise, and approximately thirty articles. When Congress passed the supplemental jurisdiction statute in 1990, his scholarly critique provoked a national debate that included the United States Supreme Court. Freer serves as an adviser to the American Law Institute's Federal Judicial Code Project and is on the Advisory Board for LexisNexis Law School Publishing.

Exemplifying the highest ideals of pedagogy, Freer's demanding yet captivating teaching style has earned him the greatest respect from students. He has been named the "Most Outstanding Professor" by the law students six times, selected as "Professor of the Year" twice by the Black Law Students Association, and awarded the Emory Williams University Teaching Award. Freer has served as a visiting professor of law at the Central European University in Budapest, Hungary, and at the George Washington University Law School in Washington, D.C. In addition to his teaching and scholarship, Freer has served as vice provost for academic affairs as well as associate dean and dean of faculty in the School of Law, enriching the Emory community with his leadership.

PRESENTATION OF THE THOMAS JEFFERSON AWARD

Awarded each year to a faculty member or administrative officer for significant service to the University through personal activities, influence, and leadership.

Rosemary M. Magee 82PhD
Vice President and Secretary of the University

ROSEMARY M. MAGEE HAS GRACED OUR COMMUNITY WITH exceptional vision, inspired leadership, and passionate advocacy.

After graduating with a BA in sociology and an MA in religion from Florida State University, Magee came to Emory in 1977 to begin doctoral work in religion and literature in the Graduate Institute of Liberal Arts. Since earning her PhD in 1982, she served in Emory College successively as assistant and then associate dean and director of summer programs, associate dean for resources and planning, and senior associate dean and executive director of the arts project. In 2004, she was appointed vice president and secretary of Emory University, serving on the President's Cabinet and working with the Emory Board of Trustees.

A champion of the arts and interdisciplinary scholarship, Magee has been instrumental in bringing together diverse constituencies across the University, opening new dimensions for the development and success of numerous expansive projects and programs. Her impact has touched the Donna and Marvin Schwartz Center for Performing Arts, the Callaway Center, the Math and Science Center, the Fox Center for Humanistic Inquiry, the Language Center, the Institute for Comparative and International Studies, the Candler Library restoration, the new Psychology Building, the Steering Committee for the Arts and Arts Council, and the Emory Poetry Council.

Admired for her astute insights, collegiality, wisdom, and selflessness, Magee has served as mentor to many faculty, staff, and students. She has taught courses on fiction, the culture of the university, Southern women writers, religion in America, and biography and autobiography. Magee is a valued adviser to various governing groups on campus including the University Senate, the Alumni Board of Governors, and the Student Government Association. She serves on the board of directors for the Art Papers and is a trustee of the Halle Foundation as well as the Hambidge Center for Creative Arts and Sciences. A gifted scholar and creative writer, Magee has published books on Southern women writers and Flannery O'Connor and also has written fiction and creative nonfiction published in Southern Humanities Review, Atlanta Magazine, and Fiction Magazine.

The following awards will be presented during the diploma ceremony at the school of each recipient.

THE EMORY WILLIAMS AWARDS FOR DISTINGUISHED TEACHING

The University's oldest awards for teaching were established in 1972 by alumnus Emory Williams 32C. Awards in the arts and sciences are determined by a committee of Emory College faculty. Established in 1997 by John T. Glover 68C.

Hashem Dezhbakhsh
Professor, Economics

AUTHORIZATION TO CONFER DEGREES

The conferring of degrees is authorized in formal session by the Board of Trustees of Emory University on the recommendation of the president and the faculties. At today's ceremony, Chair Ben F. Johnson III symbolically will authorize President Wagner to confer degrees upon the 2008 graduates, including the recipients of honorary degrees.

HONORARY DEGREES

MARY JANE ENGLAND
Educator, Visionary, Advocate
Doctor of Science

MARY JANE ENGLAND IS PRESIDENT OF REGIS COLLEGE, HER alma mater.

Earning her medical degree from Boston University in 1964, England launched an international career as a child psychiatrist. She has served as the first commissioner of the Department of Social Services in Massachusetts, associate dean and director of the Lucius N. Littauer Master in Public Administration Program at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University, president of the American Women's Medical Association and of the American Psychiatric Association, and corporate CEO of Prudential and Washington Business Group on Health.

An innovative educator, gifted leader, and powerful activist, England has worked tirelessly to enhance mental health for all Americans, particularly children, by underscoring the need for family, neighborhood, and community-based medicine in the delivery of mental health care and creative thinking in social change. She was invited to become a member of the task force of professional experts in the new Commission for the Protection of Children in the troubled Archdiocese of Boston. She continues to serve on the Board of Visitors of the Boston University School of Medicine, on Rosalynn Carter's Task Force on Mental Health, and on the National Academies/IOM Board on Children and Families.

Under England's leadership, Regis College, a Catholic women's college, adopted a "case for growth" in 2006 that allowed the college to go coed on the undergraduate level, to develop a two-school model, and to expand the graduate programs to serve the needs of the health care industry. Most recently, in the wake of the Virginia Tech tragedy, England has led national discussions about mental health and safety issues on college campuses.

Ms. England will be presented by Dean of the Rollins School of Public Health James W. Curran.

ERNEST J. GAINES
*Writer, Humanist, Teacher
Doctor of Humane Letters*

PROLIFIC AUTHOR ERNEST J. GAINES WAS BORN ON JANUARY 15, 1933, on the River Lake Plantation in Oscar, a hamlet in Pointe Coupee Parish, Louisiana, which is the Bayonne of all his fictional work. Raised by his maternal aunt, Augusteen Jefferson, who served as the principal role model for his best-known character, Miss Jane Pittman, Gaines is the oldest of twelve children. At the age of fifteen, he rejoined his mother and stepfather in California to continue his education, since there was not a high school he could attend in Pointe Coupee Parish, and because it was against the law in Louisiana in the 1940s for people of color to enter public libraries.

Offering understanding for readers of all colors, background, and class, Ernest Gaines's novels are set in the plantations of the Deep South. Book critics at the Washington Post Book World, Los Angeles Times, New York Times, and Time have credited Gaines with "the ability to convey through his work the insidious effect of racism—without moralizing" and "the utter lack of overwrought emotion with which questions of race relations are treated."

His novel A Lesson Before Dying (1993) has sold two millions copies, was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize, and won the 1994 Best Fiction Award by the National Book Critics Circle. It was the October 1997 choice of Oprah's Book Club. Gaines's other works include The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman (1971), whose TV-movie adaptation by CBS won nine Emmys; A Long Day in November (1971); In My Father's House (1978); and A Gathering of Old Men (1983). He is also the author of the collection of stories and essays Mozart and Leadbelly (2005).

Gaines's many honors include the National Humanities Medal, the National Governor's Association Award for Distinguished Service in the Arts, the Louisiana Governor's Award for Lifetime Achievement, and the Louisiana Writers Award. He is writer-in-residence emeritus at the University of Louisiana-Lafayette.

Mr. Gaines will be presented by Dean of Emory College Robert A. Paul.

EDWARD O. WILSON
*Scientist, Scholar, Innovator
Doctor of Science*

EDWARD O. WILSON WAS BORN IN BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA, IN 1929. He received a BS and MS in biology from the University of Alabama and, in 1955, a PhD in biology from Harvard University, where he taught for four decades, receiving both of its college-wide teaching awards. He is currently University Research Professor Emeritus and Honorary Curator in Entomology of the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard.

He is the author of twenty-five books, two of which won Pulitzer Prizes, Human Nature (1978) and The Ants (1990, with Bert Hölldobler). He is the recipient of more than one hundred other international medals and awards, including the National Medal of Science; the International Prize for Biology from Japan; the Catalonia Prize of Spain; the Presidential Medal of Italy; the Crafoord Prize from the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences, given in fields of science not covered by the Nobel Prize; and, for his conservation efforts, the Gold Medal of the Worldwide Fund for Nature and the Audubon Medal of the National Audubon Society.

Six of Wilson's books compose two trilogies. The first trilogy—The Insect Societies, Sociobiology, and On Human Nature (1971–1978)—first mapped the fields of sociobiology and evolutionary psychology. The second trilogy—The Diversity of Life, The Future of Life, and The Creation (1992–2006)—organized the base of modern biodiversity conservation. Wilson has served on the boards of directors of the Nature Conservancy, Conservation International, and the American Museum of Natural History, and he gives many lectures throughout the world. His best-known books include Consilience (1998), which argues for the uniting of the natural sciences with the humanities.

Wilson will be the keynote speaker and participating in discussions at "The Future of Evolution" symposium at Emory on October 23 and 24, 2008. This university-wide symposium, organized by Emory's Computational and Life Sciences Strategic Initiative, will present the outstanding research of Emory faculty in Darwinian evolution and explore how new understandings of natural diversity and directed selection may transform our lives.

Mr. Wilson will be presented by Dean of the Graduate School Lisa A. Tedesco.

BERNARD MARCUS
*Entrepreneur, philanthropist, humanitarian
Doctor of Humane Letters*

SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS LEADER AND DISTINGUISHED philanthropist Bernard Marcus was born in Newark, New Jersey, in 1929. Marcus received a BS in pharmacy from Rutgers University, but found his interests in home retail business. After several successful years of leading other home-good retail stores, Marcus cofounded The Home Depot, the largest home improvement retailer, where he served as chair of the board until his retirement in 2002. He remains director emeritus and Home Depot's largest single stockholder.

A great Georgia citizen, Marcus has touched the lives of many in the state and abroad. In addition to his 2005 building of the Georgia Aquarium, the largest aquarium in the world, Marcus's civic contributions focus on Jewish causes, children, medical research, free enterprise, and the community. The Israel Democracy Institute, located in Jerusalem, serves as a nonpartisan and nonpolitical think tank addressing the complex issues facing Israeli democratic society.

The Marcus Institute, founded with his wife Billi in 1991, provides programs for children and adolescents with disorders of the brain and support to their families. The institute began as the Marcus Development Resource Center at Emory in 1991 as a result of a generous donation to the Children's Research Center at Emory. Today, many of the institute's professionals hold faculty appointments at Emory, and it is an approved site for the Emory Pediatric Residence Program. Most recently, Marcus donated funds to pay for the medical costs for recent war veterans who have stopped receiving government funding for care at Atlanta's Shepherd Center clinic for brain and spinal injury.

Marcus serves in numerous leadership roles including the Shepherd Center, the City of Hope, the Marcus Jewish Community Center, and Business Executives for National Security. His excellence in leadership and business have been recognized with many awards, including induction into the Junior Achievement U.S. Business Hall of Fame, the Jewish Federation of Greater Atlanta's Lifetime of Achievement Award, the Golden Plate Award from the Academy of Achievement at the International Achievement Summit, and the Anti-Defamation League's America's Democratic Legacy Award.

Mr. Marcus will be presented by Dean of the School of Medicine Thomas J. Lawley.

A COMMENTARY ON COMMENCEMENT

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOMS

EMORY COLLEGE ORIGINATED FROM A CONCERN FOR higher education in a Christian setting on the part of the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Chartered in 1836 in Oxford, Georgia, the college was named after John Emory (1789–1835), bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1964 the college at Oxford was named Oxford College of Emory University.

Emory College became Emory University by virtue of a charter granted by the Superior Court of DeKalb County on January 25, 1915. Although classes on the Atlanta campus were begun in the schools of law and theology as early as 1916, the college did not move to Atlanta until 1919. The University now includes nine schools, most tracing their origins to years before the chartering of the University itself. These schools are Emory and Oxford Colleges (1836), the School of Medicine (1854), Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing (1905), Candler School of Theology (1914), the School of Law (1916), Roberto C. Goizueta Business School (1919), the Graduate School (1919), and Rollins School of Public Health (1990).

The intent of the founders is perpetuated by the recently adopted vision statement of the University: A destination university internationally recognized as an inquiry-driven, ethically engaged, and diverse community, whose members work collaboratively for positive transformation in the world through courageous leadership in teaching, research, scholarship, health care, and social action.

A SHORT HISTORY OF COMMENCEMENT AT EMORY

This is Emory’s 163rd commencement. The exercises witnessed today represent an imposition of medieval academic tradition on an institution that had its roots in the nineteenth-century frontier. The first Emory commencement was held in 1840, four years after Emory College had been chartered and two years after the college’s first classes. That first ceremony, however, was without graduating students, as there were no graduates until the following year. Then, as now, sermons and addresses had a central focus in the exercises, though rarely have these addresses been so crucial as in 1849, when all fifteen members of the graduating class were assigned speaking places and spoke for as long as half an hour each.

Early commencement audiences sat for up to four hours in the midsummer heat to listen to the numerous student and faculty orations on such topics as “Our Government Unfavorable to High Attainment in Literature,” “Social Equality,” and “Modern Refinements.” These addresses in the early days were in English, contrary to the practice at many other institutions. As President A. B. Longstreet argued in 1842, speeches in Latin and Greek were “worthy of the name pedantry, and nothing more.” In spite of this advice, several later generations of students instructed their audiences in the ancient tongues.

Academic dress goes back to the founding of European universities, which were the products of the intellectual revival of the twelfth century. All medieval students were clerks and consequently wore the dress of clergy. This is the academic costume we wear today, with certain changes introduced in the sixteenth century by Protestant reformers. The oldest articles of academic wear were the robe, over which was worn the habit, usually a kind of tunic with short, wide sleeves. The medieval hood was lined with fur or inexpensive skins and could be gathered around the neck or pulled up on the head as a turban. There were four kinds of caps: the round cap, reserved for doctoral dignity; the tena, a round cap with strings tied under the chin, worn by jurists; the square cap; and the Tudor bonnet. At Oxford University in 1565 the square cap became the norm, but the faculties that had become laicized adopted the Tudor bonnet. This is still worn by doctors of law, medicine, and philosophy. It is uncertain when different colors became associated with different degrees.

The basic design of all academic costume in the United States was first established in 1895 and was first used at Emory by the Class of 1902. The bachelor’s gown is black and has long, pointed, open sleeves. The master’s gown has longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom with openings about midway for the hands. The doctor’s gown has full-length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. Tassels for bachelors and masters are black; tassels of gold thread may be worn by doctors. Gowns and caps are usually black, although Emory and some other schools have specified that their doctors may wear gowns of distinctive colors. Yale’s deep blue doctoral gown, Harvard’s crimson, Columbia’s dark blue, and Emory’s blue and gold are a few that may be seen in the procession.

The hood varies for the respective degrees, the doctor’s hood being longer and fuller than the others. The field of study can be determined from the velvet facing on the hood according to the following color scheme: white, the arts; gold-yellow, science; purple, law; apricot, nursing; green, medicine; drab, business administration; scarlet, theology; salmon, public health; and dark blue, doctors of philosophy.

The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the degree-granting institution. For Emory graduates the lining is blue with a chevron of gold. Most faculty wear doctors’ hoods, and some of the colors seen today are included in the following list:

Blue and Gold	Emory
Black and Old Gold	Johns Hopkins
Blue	Yale
Blue and Orange	Virginia
Blue and White	Duke
Light Blue and White	Columbia and North Carolina
Violet	New York University
Purple and Gold	Northwestern

Gold and Blue	California
Orange and Black	Princeton
Maize and Azure Blue	Michigan
Brown and Cardinal	Brown
Cardinal	Stanford
Cardinal and Blue	Pennsylvania
Carnelian and White	Cornell
Crimson	Harvard
Maroon	Chicago
Scarlet	Oxford University

The president of Emory University wears a badge of office given to the University in 1965 by the Emory chapter, Gamma of Georgia, of Phi Beta Kappa. Designed by Eric Clements of Birmingham, England, and executed by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths in London, the solid gold badge is an open teardrop enclosing the raised seal of the University and is suspended on a gold chain.

The chief marshal and eleven deputy marshals lead the academic procession. The faculty marshals and the secretary of the University jointly manage the forming of the procession, the seating of commencement participants, and the planning of other aspects of commencement exercises. Marshals are identified by their unique blue tunics, which are sleeveless and lined with gold.

The University mace is carried in the procession by the immediate past president of the Student Government Association. Academically the mace is the symbol of a university as a corporate body of scholars possessing its own jurisdiction and its own legally constituted authority. Traditionally the mace is borne in procession immediately before the chief officer of a university and is placed before him or her during formal academic ceremonies.

The mace of Emory University, a gift from DVS, an Emory College senior honor society, was designed by Eric Clements and executed in silver and gold by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths. In the teardrop at the apex of the mace, against a background of oxidized silver, is a freestanding representation in gold of a human skeleton. This is Dooley, the “spirit” of Emory, who traditionally “rises” once each spring and for a week rules campus. Immediately below the skeleton, in an open teardrop, is a gold sphere divided (by stippling) into eight segments. Topping the sphere is a simple cross, symbolizing the relationship of Emory University to the Methodist church. The seal of the University is sculpted in gold within the circular base.

Before each school in the procession, the school’s student marshal carries its gonfalon, a banner in the color associated with the respective school’s degree: medicine, green; public health, salmon; nursing, apricot; theology, scarlet; law, purple; and business, khaki. The gonfalon of the Graduate School is gold representing the Emory’s gold, and the gonfalons of Emory College and Oxford College represent Emory’s blue.

EMORY ALUMNI LEGACY MEDALLION

Graduating students who have a parent, grandparent, and/or sibling who is also an Emory graduate are wearing specially commissioned medallions hanging from blue and gold ribbons. The medallions are expressions of the University’s gratitude to those families who have chosen to continue the Emory education tradition throughout the generations.

THE COMMENCEMENT SETTING

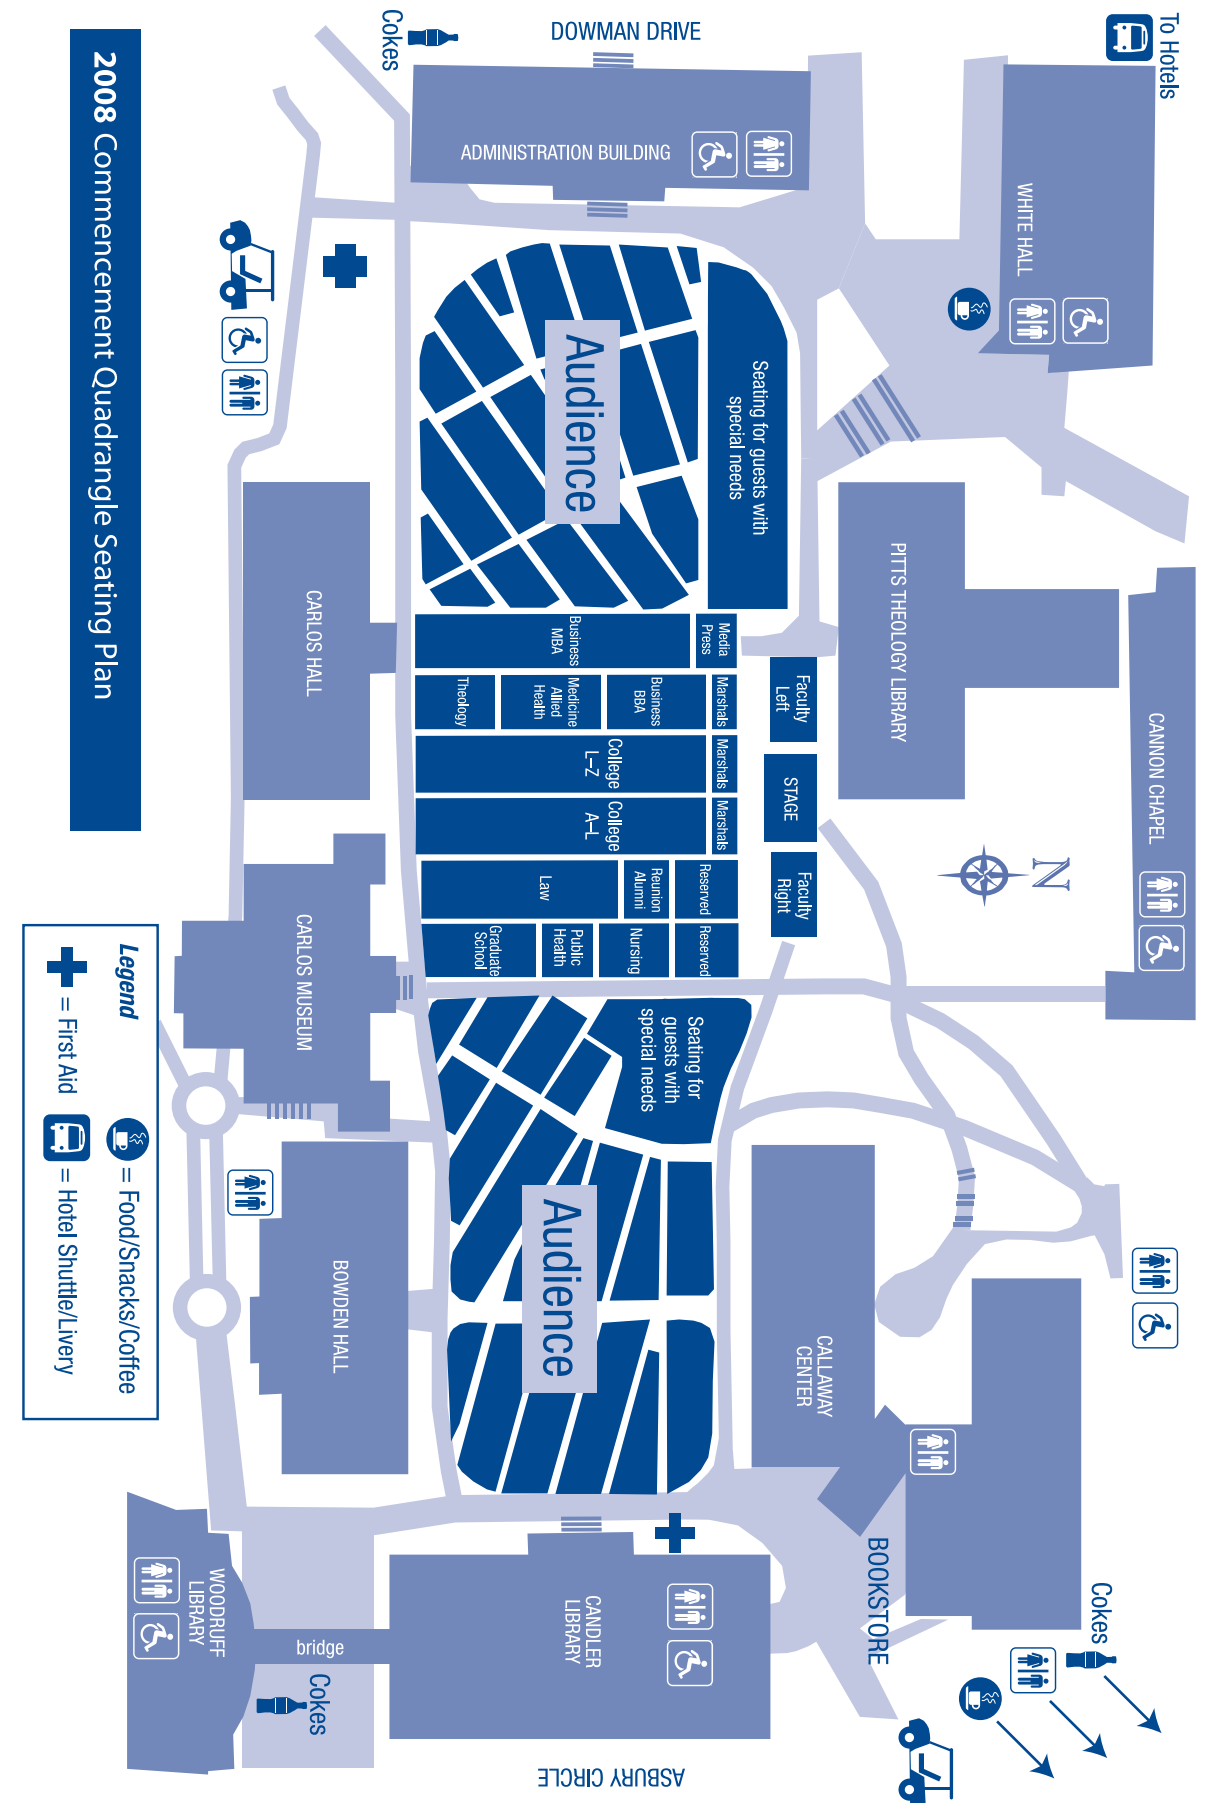

Spectators on the Quadrangle are seated facing Pitts Theology Library, one of the two oldest buildings on the Atlanta campus. Designed by the distinguished architect Henry Hornbostel (1867–1961), Pitts Theology Library was the original theology building in 1916. It was renovated in 1975 by architect Paul Rudolph to house the expanded library collection of Candler School of Theology.

Directly behind the spectators are Carlos Hall, the other original campus building, and the expanded Michael C. Carlos Museum. Formerly home to the School of Law, Carlos Hall was renovated in 1986 according to a design by Michael Graves to house the museum and the department of art history. The museum is named for the philanthropist who donated most of the cost of the facility. It was designed to maintain the classic symmetry and proportion of the surrounding buildings, which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Bowden Hall, east of the museum, was constructed in 1951 in the same style as the original campus buildings. Originally the History Building, it was renamed in 1991 in honor of the late Henry L. Bowden, former chair of the Board of Trustees of Emory University. To the southeast of Bowden Hall is the Center for Library and Information Resources. The center joins the tall, red-tile-crowned Robert W. Woodruff Library, and is linked to the Asa Griggs Candler Memorial Library at the east end of the Quadrangle. Candler Library was dedicated in 1926 in honor of the man who donated the land for the campus and who provided the University with strong leadership in its early years.

Next to Pitts Library is the Loula Walker and Ely Reeves Callaway Sr. Memorial Center. Thanks to a generous gift from alumnus Ely R. Callaway Jr. in honor of his parents, this center joins the former Humanities Building with the original Physics Building, which was constructed in 1919.

At the west end of the Quadrangle is the Administration Building (1955), a gift of Charles Howard Candler 1898C 1902M 1942H. Like his father, Asa, Charles chaired the Board of Trustees for many years. Between the Administration Building and Pitts Library sits the more modern White Hall, the main classroom building of Emory College. Above the trees of the north side of the Quadrangle are the curved red roof of the William R. Cannon Chapel—designed by Paul Rudolph and dedicated in 1981—and the towers of Emory University Hospital to the east.
