The Alma Mater

IN THE HEART OF DEAR OLD EMORY
WHERE THE SUN DOTTH SHINE,
THAT IS WHERE OUR HEARTS ARE TURNING
'ROUND OLD EMORY'S SHRINE.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

THO' THE YEARS AROUND US GATHER,
CROWNED WITH LOVE AND CHEER,
STILL THE MEMORY OF OLD EMORY
GROWS TO US MORE DEAR.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

PRESENTATION OF THE MARION LUTHER BRITTAIN SERVICE AWARD

This award, symbolic of all honors bestowed on students by the University, is an expression of gratitude for service performed without expectation of reward or recognition. The award was established at Emory in 1942 through a bequest from a distinguished Emory alumnus, former President Brittain of the Georgia Institute of Technology.

Nicolai Bruce Lundy 09C
Emory College
Presented by Senior Vice President for Campus Life
John L. Ford

VARSITY ATHLETE, PRESIDENT OF ALPHA TAU OMEGA fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa Leadership Honor Society, “man for all seasons” Nicolai Bruce Lundy has been an extraordinary leader on the Emory University campus since the day he arrived.

Committed to the sustainability movement, Lundy cofounded the Greeks Go Green Sustainability Initiative. By introducing competition, film screenings, campus speakers, and educational programs to attract hundreds from the Greek community, Lundy has made our Greek community one of the key elements in the sustainability movement on campus.

A gifted scholar majoring in philosophy, Lundy was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year.

As an athlete, Lundy is a three-year varsity letterman in track and field, cocaptain of the team for the 2008–2009 academic year, and currently the University record holder in the 4 x 800 meter relay.

A strong advocate for Emory, Lundy has helped recruit other talented students to Emory as an ambassador to Colorado high schools. He has visited several schools in his native state, speaking with promising students and sharing his special insight into life at Emory.

It is an honor to present Nicolai Bruce Lundy with the 2009 Marion Luther Brittain Award for his exemplary service to the Emory University community.

PRESENTATION OF THE UNIVERSITY SCHOLAR/TEACHER AWARD

Chosen by the University president from nominations by the deans on behalf of the United Methodist Church Board of Higher Education and Ministry.

Martha A. Fineman
Robert W. Woodruff Professor of Law

ONE OF THE WORLD’S LEADING FEMINIST THEORISTS AND family-law scholars, Martha A. Fineman has encouraged colleagues, lawmakers, and students to challenge the status quo. After earning a BA from Temple University and a JD from the University of Chicago, Fineman clerked for the Honorable Luther M. Swygert in the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. Fineman has taught at the University of Wisconsin Law School, Columbia Law School, and Cornell Law School, where she held the first endowed chair in feminist jurisprudence in the United States. In 2004 she joined the Emory School of Law faculty as the Robert W. Woodruff Professor of Law.

Fineman has published more than sixty scholarly texts. Her books include The Neutered Mother, the Sexual Family and Other Twentieth Century Tragedies; The Autonomy Myth: A Theory of Dependency; and the forthcoming The Vulnerable Subject: Anchoring Equality in the Human Condition. In her writings, Fineman explores issues such as the nature and function of the family as a societal institution, the economic and political consequences of welfare and divorce reforms, and the meanings of dependency in American society and politics.

An important component of Fineman’s scholarly work is the Feminism and Legal Theory (FLT) Project, which she founded in 1984. The core purpose of FLT is to foster interdisciplinary examinations of laws, social policies, and structures that are of particular interest to women. Her research, scholarship, and activism have helped to define the field of feminist legal theory and family and marriage law. A dedicated teacher and mentor, Fineman also carries forward the themes and methods developed in her research and the FLT Project, encouraging students to question the basic assumptions they have about the ways society operates. She challenges her students to be critical thinkers who are not afraid to reexamine fundamental concepts.

Fineman’s exemplary scholarship and teaching have earned her national recognition, including the Harry Kalven Prize for Distinguished Research in Law and Society, the Ruth Bader Ginsberg Distinguished Visiting Professorship at the Thomas Jefferson Law School, and the Centennial Celebration Lectureship at the New England School of Law.

PRESENTATION OF THE THOMAS JEFFERSON AWARD

Awarded each year to a faculty member or administrative officer for significant service to the University through personal activities, influence, and leadership.

Ronald Schuchard
Goodrich C. White Professor of English

RONALD SCHUCHARD HAS DEVOTED FORTY YEARS TO THE service of Emory University. After earning a BA, an MA, and a PhD at the University of Texas at Austin, Schuchard came to Emory as an assistant professor of English in 1969 and currently is the Goodrich C. White Professor of English. His distinguished teaching career has included courses in twentieth-century British, Irish, and Anglophone literature and graduate seminars on topics such as the Irish literary renaissance, contemporary Irish poets, W. B. Yeats and James Joyce, T. S. Eliot, Thomas Hardy, and contemporary poetry.

An internationally recognized scholar, Schuchard’s research and writing have earned him many awards. His book Eliot’s Dark Angel won the Robert Penn Warren-Cleath Brooks Award for Outstanding Literary Criticism and the annual SAMLA Studies award for the best book published by a member of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association. His latest book, The Last Minstrels: Yeats and the Revival of the Bardic Arts, was published by Oxford University Press in 2008. He is currently the general editor of the multivolume edition of The Complete Prose of T. S. Eliot. He has been a visiting fellow at Wolfson College, University of Oxford; Trinity College, University of Dublin;

Queen’s University Belfast; and the Institute of English Studies at the University of London, where he has been elected a permanent senior research fellow.

Schuchard’s vision and determination led Emory to establish the now renowned Richard Ellmann Lectures in Modern Literature in 1988. The Ellmann Lectures have drawn such luminaries as Seamus Heaney, Mario Vargas Llosa, Salman Rushdie, and Umberto Eco. In addition, Schuchard’s dedication to the Manuscript, Archives, and Rare Book Library (MARBL) has made it one of the major research libraries in the country. He worked tirelessly to bring the Seamus Heaney and Raymond Danowski papers to MARBL.

Through his leadership, Schuchard has inspired many faculty, staff, and students at Emory and abroad. In 2004, he worked with Emory administrators, faculty, staff, and students to donate computers to Meru High School located in Meru, Kenya. Before the computers arrived, the school was ranked below the top one hundred other Kenya schools. Within a year of the computers’ arrival, the school had risen to the rank of forty-four.

Described by fellow colleagues with such words as genial, insightful, energetic, patient, and dedicated, Schuchard exemplifies all those qualities of engagement and intellectual liveliness that define Emory.

The following awards will be presented during the diploma ceremony at the school of each recipient.

THE EMORY WILLIAMS AWARDS FOR DISTINGUISHED TEACHING

The University’s oldest awards for teaching were established in 1972 by alumnus Emory Williams 32C. Awards in the arts and sciences are determined by a committee of Emory College of Arts and Sciences faculty. Goizueta Business School, Oxford College, and Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing each present an award for excellence in undergraduate teaching. One other award rotates among the professional schools.

AUTHORIZATION TO CONFER DEGREES

The conferring of degrees is authorized in formal session by the Board of Trustees of Emory University on the recommendation of the president and the faculties. At today’s ceremony, Chair Ben F. Johnson III symbolically will authorize President Wagner to confer degrees upon the 2009 graduates, including the recipients of honorary degrees.

HONORARY DEGREES

VICENTE FOX QUESADA
Former President of Mexico
Diplomat, collaborator, visionary
Doctor of Laws, honoris causa

VICENTE FOX QUESADA SERVED AS THE PRESIDENT OF MEXICO from 2000 to 2006. Born in the state of Guanajuato, in central Mexico, he studied business administration at the Universidad Iberoamericana. He began his business career as a route supervisor for The Coca-Cola Company, eventually rising to the position of president of Coca-Cola Mexico. This business experience and his constant contact with everyday people led Fox to an understanding of adverse situations. Retiring from business, he returned to Guanajuato to participate in political, philanthropic, and educational spheres.

SEVERE WEATHER

Should weather conditions improve sufficiently, the college and the schools of law, nursing, and public health might wish to proceed with their outdoor diploma ceremonies. The deans will make this decision. During outdoor ceremonies, if weather conditions deteriorate and become unsafe, the ceremonies will be abbreviated. Usbers and safety marshals will direct guests to exits and safe shelter. Students will be informed about where and how to obtain their diplomas.

If severe weather forces the cancellation of the all-schools ceremony, the diploma ceremonies will be held as follows:

Allied Health, Woodruff Health Sciences Center, Woodruff Health Sciences Administration Building Auditorium, 9:45 A.M.

the new National Center for Primary Care (NCPC) and presently occupies the Poussaint-Satcher-Cosby Chair in Mental Health at the Morehouse School of Medicine.

Satcher graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Morehouse College in 1963 and went on to earn an MD and a PhD from Case Western Reserve University. He has received numerous distinguished honors, including top awards from the National Medical Association and the American Medical Association, and the Symbol of HOPE Award for health promotion and disease prevention. In 2005 he was appointed to serve on the World Health Organization Commission on Social Determinants of Health. Currently he serves on the boards of directors of Johnson and Johnson, MetLife, and the Kaiser Family Foundation. He also serves locally on the boards of United Way and the Community Foundation for Greater Atlanta.

Dr. Satcher will be presented by Dean of Rollins School of Public Health James W. Curran.

ROBERT SPANO

*Music Director, Atlanta Symphony Orchestra
Conductor, artist, innovator
Doctor of Music, honoris causa*

ROBERT SPANO IS AMONG THE MOST INNOVATIVE AND imaginative conductors of his generation. Now in his eighth season as music director of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra (ASO), he has enriched its repertoire and elevated it to greater prominence. He has conducted the major orchestras of North America, including those in Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. Among the orchestras he has led internationally are the Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra, Orchestra Filarmonica della Scala, Czech Philharmonic, Berlin Radio Sinfonie Orchestra, BBC Scottish and BBC Symphony Orchestras, City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra, New Japan Philharmonic, and Oslo Philharmonic. He has appeared with the opera companies of Chicago, Houston, and Santa Fe, and at the Royal Opera at Covent Garden and Welsh National Opera.

Musical America's 2008 "Conductor of the Year," Spano was music director of the Ojai Festival in 2006; director of the Festival of Contemporary Music at the Boston Symphony Orchestra's Tanglewood Music Center in 2003 and 2004, where he was head of the Conducting Fellowship Program from 1998 to 2002; and music director of the Brooklyn Philharmonic from 1996 to 2004. He is on the faculty of Oberlin Conservatory.

Spano's most recent works include conducting Osvaldo Golijov's Ainadamar with Dawn Upshaw and the Orchestra of St. Luke's in Carnegie Hall and appearing with Carnegie's Zankel Band as part of its Bernstein Festival in a program of Bernstein gems. Other North American engagements have included the New World Symphony and the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Through his characteristically innovative programming, he has elevated the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra to new levels of international acclaim. Spano and the ASO have also recently recorded two discs of the music of Golijov for Deutsche Grammophon: one including Three Songs and Oceana, and the other, the chamber opera Ainadamar, which was awarded two Grammys. In August 2009 Spano returns to the Seattle Opera to conduct three cycles of Wagner's monumental Der Ring des Nibelungen.

Mr. Spano will be presented by Dean of Emory College of Arts and Sciences Robert A. Paul.

and think about their social worlds, pursue personal goals, and regulate their behavior to adapt to life's most challenging social environments.

Prior to her appointment at Syracuse, Cantor served in many university leadership roles, including chancellor of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign; provost and executive vice president for academic affairs at the University of Michigan and dean of its Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies; and chair of the Department of Psychology at Princeton University. She also was professor of psychology and senior research scientist at the Institute of Social Research.

Cantor has an AB from Sarah Lawrence College and a PhD in psychology from Stanford University. She is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a member of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences. Cantor's awards include the Distinguished Scientific Award for an Early Career Contribution to Psychology from the American Psychological Association, the Woman of Achievement Award from the Anti-Defamation League, and the Making a Difference Award from the National Council for Research on Women. Cantor serves on the board of the American Institutes for Research, the advisory board of Future of Minority Studies, the Paul Taylor Dance Foundation Board of Directors, and as an honorary trustee of the American Psychological Foundation.

Ms. Cantor will be presented by Dean of the Graduate School Lisa A. Tedesco.

DAVID SATCHER

*Distinguished Professor, Morehouse School of Medicine
Physician, scientist, advocate
Doctor of Science, honoris causa*

DAVID SATCHER IS DIRECTOR OF THE SATCHER HEALTH Leadership Institute at the Morehouse School of Medicine in Atlanta. The mission of the institute is to develop a diverse group of public health leaders, foster and support leadership strategies, and influence policies toward the reduction and ultimate elimination of disparities in health. The institute's programs reflect Satcher's experience in improving public health policy as well as his commitment to eliminating health disparities for underserved groups and shedding light on neglected issues such as mental and sexual health.

Sworn in as the sixteenth surgeon general of the United States in 1998, Satcher also served as assistant secretary for health in the Department of Health and Human Services from February 1998 to January 2001, making him only the second person in history to have held both positions simultaneously. As surgeon general and assistant secretary for health, Satcher led the department's effort to eliminate racial and ethnic disparities in health, an initiative that was incorporated as one of the two major goals of Healthy People 2010.

Satcher has served as director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and administrator of the Toxic Substances and Disease Registry. He has held top leadership positions at the Charles R. Drew University for Medicine and Science, Meharry Medical College, and the Morehouse School of Medicine. He has been a Macy Foundation fellow, a Robert Wood Johnson Foundation clinical scholar, and a senior visiting fellow of the Kaiser Family Foundation. Satcher held the position of director of Whether as a business leader or politician, Fox has sought to foster the common good for the citizens of Mexico. He was president and founder of the Amigo Daniel Children's Home Foundation, president of the Loyola Foundation, and a promoter of the León campus of the Universidad Iberoamericana and the Lux Institute, an educational center where thousands of state residents receive training. During the 1980s, Fox began his political career by joining the Partido Acción Nacional (PAN). He has served as federal congressman for the Third District of León and as secretary of agriculture. In 1995 he was elected governor of Guanajuato.

In 2000, running as the candidate of the Alliance for Change with a pledge to end government corruption and restore the economy, Fox became the first person elected president of Mexico independent of the Institutional Revolutionary Party, which had held power without interruption for seventy-one years. During his six-year term, Fox successfully proposed legislation to increase the rights of Mexico's indigenous peoples; made progress in negotiating cooperation with the United States in addressing drug trafficking and illegal immigration; increased public access to governmental information and greater freedom of expression; and reduced Mexico's foreign debt and rate of inflation.

Fox established Centro Fox in 2007, the first presidential library and museum to be established in Mexico, and its activities include a "center for the advancement of democracy" modeled loosely after the work of The Carter Center in Atlanta. Current collaborations between Emory and Centro Fox include a jointly organized research conference on migration to be held this year, an expansion of the Global Health Institute's field partner sites in the San Cristobal area of Mexico, and academic exchanges between students and faculty from Emory and partner institutions of Centro Fox.

Mr. Fox will be presented by Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost Earl Lewis.

NANCY CANTOR

*Chancellor and President of Syracuse University
Scholar, teacher, leader
Doctor of Laws, honoris causa*

AS THE ELEVENTH CHANCELLOR AND PRESIDENT OF SYRACUSE University, Nancy Cantor is helping forge a new understanding of the role of universities in society as Syracuse University pursues its vision, Scholarship in Action. This entails a view of the university not as a traditional "ivory tower" but as a public good, an anchor institution that collaborates with partners from all sectors of the economy to more effectively serve the needs of society. The success of these efforts earned Syracuse University the distinction of being, along with Emory, among the first institutions to earn the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching's classification as a university committed to community engagement. They also earned Cantor a 2008 Carnegie Corporation Academic Leadership Award.

Cantor lectures and writes extensively on crucial issues in higher education, including the role of universities in their communities, sustainability, liberal education and the creative campus, the status of women in the academy, and racial justice and diversity. A social psychologist and author of numerous books, chapters, and scientific articles, Cantor is recognized for her scholarly contributions to the understanding of how individuals perceive

A COMMENTARY ON COMMENCEMENT

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOMS

Academic dress goes back to the founding of European universities, which were the products of the intellectual revival of the twelfth century. All medieval students were clerks and consequently wore the dress of clergy. This is the academic costume we wear today, with certain changes introduced in the sixteenth century by Protestant reformers. The oldest articles of academic wear were the robe, over which was worn the habit, usually a kind of tunic with short, wide sleeves. The medieval hood was lined with fur or inexpensive skins and could be gathered around the neck or pulled up on the head as a turban. There were four kinds of caps: the round cap, reserved for doctoral dignity; the terna, a round cap with strings tied under the chin, worn by jurists; the square cap; and the Tudor bonnet. At Oxford University in 1565 the square cap became the norm, but the faculties that had become laicized adopted the Tudor bonnet. This is still worn by doctors of law, medicine, and music. It is uncertain when different colors became associated with different degrees.

EMORY COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES originated from a concern for higher education in a Christian setting on the part of the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Chartered in 1836 in Oxford, Georgia, the college was named after John Emory (1789–1835), bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1964 the college at Oxford was named Oxford College of Emory University.

Emory College became Emory University by virtue of a charter granted by the Superior Court of DeKalb County on January 25, 1915. Although classes on the Atlanta campus were begun in the schools of law and theology as early as 1916, the college did not move to Atlanta until 1919. The University now includes nine schools, most tracing their origins to years before the chartering of the University itself. These schools are Emory and Oxford Colleges (1836), the School of Medicine (1854), Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing (1905), Candler School of Theology (1914), the School of Law (1916), Roberto C. Goizueta Business School (1919), the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (1919), and Rollins School of Public Health (1990).

The intent of the founders is perpetuated by the recently adopted vision statement of the University: A destination university internationally recognized as an inquiry-driven, ethically engaged, and diverse community, whose members work collaboratively for positive transformation in the world through courageous leadership in teaching, research, scholarship, health care, and social action.

A SHORT HISTORY ON COMMENCEMENT AT EMORY

This is Emory's 164th commencement. The exercises witnessed today represent an imposition of medieval academic tradition on an institution that had its roots in the nineteenth-century frontier. The first Emory commencement was held in 1840, four years after Emory College had been chartered and two years after the college's first classes. That first ceremony, however, was without graduating students, as there were no graduates until the following year. Then, as now, sermons and addresses had a central focus in the exercises, though rarely have these addresses been so crucial as in 1849, when all fifteen members of the graduating class were assigned speaking places and spoke for as long as half an hour each.

Early commencement audiences sat for up to four hours in the midsummer heat to listen to the numerous student and faculty orations on such topics as "Our Government Unfavorable to High Attainment in Literature," "Social Equality," and "Modern Refinements." These addresses in the early days were in English, contrary to the practice at many other institutions. As President A. B. Longstreet argued in 1842, speeches in Latin and Greek were "worthy of the name pedantry, and nothing more." In spite of this advice, several later generations of students instructed their audiences in the ancient tongues.

The basic design of all academic costume in the United States was first established in 1895 and was first used at Emory by the Class of 1902. The bachelor's gown is without ornamentation and has long, pointed, open sleeves. The master's gown has longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom with openings about midway for the hands. The doctor's gown has full-length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. Tassels for bachelors and masters are black; tassels of gold thread may be worn by doctors. Gowns and caps are usually black, although Emory and some other schools have specified that their doctors may wear gowns of distinctive colors. Yale's deep blue doctoral gown, Harvard's crimson, Columbia's dark blue, and Emory's blue and gold are a few that may be seen in the procession.

The hood varies for the respective degrees, the doctor's hood being longer and fuller than the others. The field of study can be determined from the velvet facing on the hood according to the following color scheme: white, the arts; gold-yellow, science; purple, law; apricot, nursing; green, medicine; sapphire, business administration; scarlet, theology; salmon, public health; and dark blue, doctors of philosophy.

The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the degree-granting institution. For Emory graduates the lining is blue with a chevron of gold.

The president of Emory University wears a badge of office given to the University in 1965 by the Emory chapter, Gamma of Georgia, of Phi Beta Kappa. Designed by Eric Clements of Birmingham, England, and executed by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths in London, the solid gold badge is an open teardrop enclosing the raised seal of the University and is suspended on a gold chain.

The chief marshal and fourteen deputy marshals lead the academic procession. The faculty marshals and the secretary of the University jointly manage the forming of the procession, the seating of commencement participants, and the planning of other aspects of commencement exercises. Marshals are identified by their unique blue tunics, which are sleeveless and lined with gold.

The University mace is carried in the procession by the immediate past president of the Student Government Association. Academically the mace is the symbol of a university as a corporate body of scholars possessing its own jurisdiction and its own legally constituted authority. Traditionally the mace is borne in procession immediately before the chief officer of a university and is placed before him or her during formal academic ceremonies.

The mace of Emory University, a gift from DVS, an Emory College senior honor society, was designed by Eric Clements and executed in silver and gold by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths. In the teardrop at the apex of the mace, against a background of oxidized silver, is a freestanding representation in gold of a human skeleton. This is Dooley, the "spirit" of Emory, who traditionally "rises" once each fall and for a week rules campus. Immediately below the skeleton, in an open teardrop, is a gold sphere divided (by stippling) into eight segments. Topping the sphere is a simple cross, symbolizing the relationship of Emory University to the Methodist church. The seal of the University is sculptured in gold within the circular base.

Before each school in the procession, the school's student marshal carries its gonfalon, a banner in the color associated with the respective school's degree: medicine, green; public health, salmon; nursing, apricot; theology, scarlet; law, purple; and business, khaki. The gonfalon of the graduate school is gold representing the Emory's gold, and the gonfalons of Emory College and Oxford College represent Emory's blue.

EMORY ALUMNI LEGACY MEDALLION

Graduating students who have a parent, grandparent, and/or sibling who is also an Emory graduate are wearing specially commissioned medallions hanging from blue and gold ribbons. The medallions are expressions of the University's gratitude to those families who have chosen to continue the Emory education tradition throughout the generations.

THE COMMENCEMENT SETTING

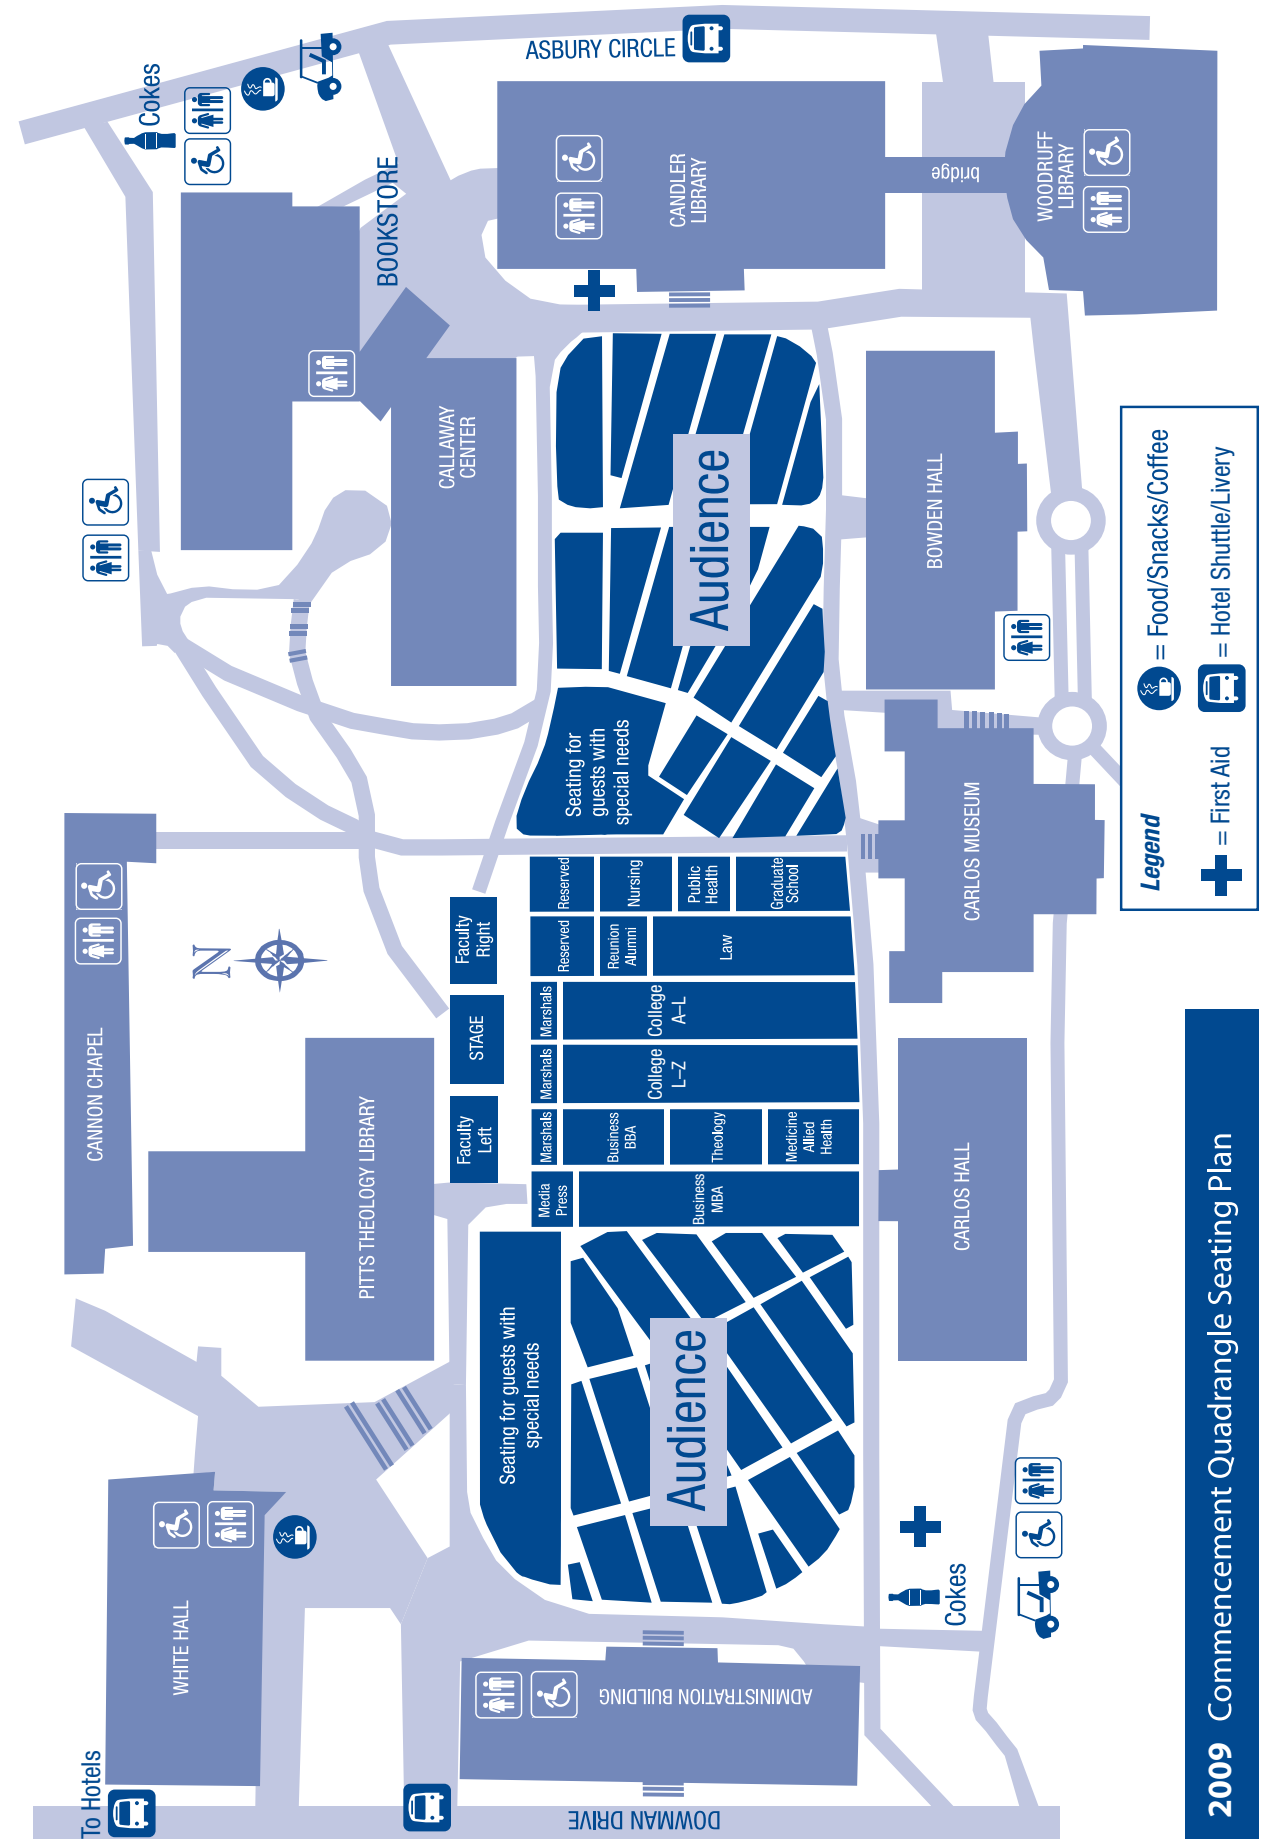

Spectators on the Quadrangle are seated facing Pitts Theology Library, one of the two oldest buildings on the Atlanta campus. Designed by the distinguished Pittsburgh architect Henry Hornbostel (1867–1961), Pitts Theology Library was the original theology building in 1916. It was renovated in 1975 by architect Paul Rudolph to house the expanded library collection of Candler School of Theology.

Directly behind the spectators are Carlos Hall, the other original campus building, and the expanded Michael C. Carlos Museum. Formerly home to the School of Law, Carlos Hall was renovated in 1986 according to a design by Michael Graves to house the museum and the department of art history. The museum is named for the philanthropist who donated most of the cost of the facility. It was designed to maintain the classic symmetry and proportion of the surrounding buildings, which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Bowden Hall, east of the museum, was constructed in 1951 in the same style as the original campus buildings. Originally the History Building, it was renamed in 1991 in honor of the late Henry L. Bowden, former chair of the Board of Trustees of Emory University. To the southeast of Bowden Hall is the Center for Library and Information Resources. The center joins the tall, red-tile-crowned Robert W. Woodruff Library and is linked to the Asa Griggs Candler Memorial Library at the east end of the Quadrangle. Candler Library was dedicated in 1926 in honor of the man who donated the land for the campus and who provided the University with strong leadership in its early years.

Next to Pitts Library is the Loula Walker and Ely Reeves Callaway Sr. Memorial Center. Thanks to a generous gift from alumnus Ely R. Callaway Jr. in honor of his parents, this center joins the former Humanities Building with the original Physics Building, which was constructed in 1919.

At the west end of the Quadrangle is the Administration Building (1955), a gift of Charles Howard Candler. Like his father, Asa, Charles chaired the Board of Trustees for many years. Between the Administration Building and Pitts Library sits the more modern White Hall, the main classroom building of Emory College. Above the trees of the north side of the Quadrangle are the curved red roof of the William R. Cannon Chapel—designed by Paul Rudolph and dedicated in 1981—and the towers of Emory University Hospital to the east.
